Rae,
To a cute girl and a swell neighbor. I don't want one girl that doesn't want me to write about boys. I will though because I know you like them. Even though you say you don't.
Remember all the good times we had at your house. Be good and stay out of trouble with Mr. Brubaker when you get him. Ha! Ha!
Jo Ann
P.S. Who's your lover now?

Rae,
So a cute little girl who rides our

THE SENIOR CLASS OF RED LION HIGH SCHOOL

Red Lion, Pennsylvania

Foreword

Hammering and drilling. . . . . noise and dust. . . . . new rooms in the making. . . . . floors with modern color schemes. . . . . the long hoped-for gym-auditorium nearing completion. How would our Pennsylvania Dutch forbears react to the Red Lion High School of today?

Although only vaguely familiar with the language and somewhat removed in years from the real Pennsylvania Dutch culture of our locality, we nevertheless decided to mix a bit of imagination with our own reactions to educational progress. This is the theme of the 1951 Lion.

SENIORS

So little time and so much to do. . . . . the gross kops, lucky enough to have a year in the new R. L. H. S., are bent on making every minute count. The last of four years in der high schule . . . . . and look onct how busy they are pretty much always.

Left: Last year's seniors entering the church for their baccalaureate service. Right: Four optimistic seniors get first feel of caps and gowns as Mrs. Laucks takes measurements.

School Is All

Class Colors ..... Light blue and white

Class Flower ..... White rose

Class Motto ..... It matters not how long you live, but how well.

Ach, such an enormous big class to graduate this year. One hundred and forty-one hard studying Pennsylvania Dutchers are at last seniors, although many are not overly happy about leaving the brand new gymnasium and other additions to the school on the hill.

For why is this? Vell, these seniors have studied, played, laughed, and even done their share of worrying during their four years in Red Lion High School. Worry? Gootness, yes. At semester time this year the new gymnatorium hadn't been completed, and the poor seniors didn't know where they would be holding commencement exercises or whether or not they would be having a class play.

Troubles didn't dim their spirits as they crammed their schedules with sports and outside activities. For instance, the newest and largest senior home room, 301, was practically vacated when Wednesday band practice and Thursday club periods came around.

These seniors, who are so full of kenn, bear only a faint resemblance to die woonerfitzech freshmen, who entered Red Lion High in '47. Many wonderful times they have had, and the four years in their alma mater will always be remembered.

Senior class officers and advisors—Mervin Grove, vice-president; Mrs. Gloria Young; Yvonne Taylor, secretary; Doris Gruver, treasurer; Miss Helen Clevenger; Charles Chavarria, president.

The Eager Beavers

You bet'cha the seniors felt a little ferhoodled and bewildered when they started planning for a class play, and could only hope that on April 20 and 21 the affair would come off, with luck—in the new gym.

Fireworks in Boggs Corner, when the townspeople go all out for the new little theatre group, "The Eager Beavers".....near-tragedy entering the lives of the participants on and off stage—sooch is the theme of the play finally selected by the seniors for their annual (under normal conditions, in November) dramatic production.

Seniors on the play-reading committee seem to have found something amusing in one of the plays.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Lucky characters with years ahead to fress in the new cafeteria, to donz in the new gym and to rootsh and schrooch around in study hall (or maybe in the new office on der bonk). . . . . these are the honswarsht—the underclassmen.

Soon To Be Gross Kops

One hundred and sixty-nine werry ambitious like juniors returned to Red Lion High in the fall of 1950 to become the largest junior class the school has ever had.

From the very first time they entered high school, they have taken part in all the activities offered. As proof of their capability in sports, the majority of this year's varsity basketball team were junior boys. They make about the same with the other sports, and on the feminine side contribute members to the cheerleading squads. Throughout the year the juniors, receiving their first taste of journalism, aided the seniors in editing the school bobeer, and even took charge of publishing one issue. Likewise, in the band, orchestra and chorus, to say nothing of the various clubs, one could find junior participants — more proof of their versatility.

Socially the juniors made their presence felt at all senior high functions, and were responsible for the highly successful Valentine Dance. In fact they were in just about everything and seemed to have a wonderful good time doing it.

Like the seniors, the juniors suffered the affliction of uncertainty caused by the building program. Up to the very last minute the where and when of their class play was a question mark, but eventually details were ironed out.

What with such goin's on as they've had, when they become seniors on class day it's certain they'll be well prepared to take over as leaders in R. L. H. S.

A Little Honey

After several postponements, the juniors finally succeeded in presenting their class play on March 16 and 17 at the old stand-by, the Municipal Building. The unusually large audience seemed to enjoy thoroughly the boderations of lonely Diana and her man hunt, the complications in the life of teen-age Jerry and boy friend Albert, the kid sister's jumping frog—just a few of the interesting angles of "A Little Honey."

Vell Now, Two Years Yet

And what this eiferich group of more than a hundred and eighty sophomore girls and boys can do in that time . . . things the seniors were wincha for when they returned in the fall, but which stayed in the wishful stage because the new additions and renovations of their alma mater required more than the expected time.

More sophomores seem to go out for clubs than the rest of the senior high school since the juniors and seniors are usually busy with full-time activities. Particularly the Girls' Chorus and the Biology Club give evidence to the interest of these tenth graders.

In sports, this group contributed one player to the varsity basketball team and even had several members of the class playing varsity football. Not to be left out, the girls were eligible to become non-voting members of the G. A. A., but because of the unfinished gym, they're eagerly awaiting the organization's functions for next year.

In addition to sports, the sophomores fit right into the geist of things by having a photographer on the Lion staff (something which even the seniors didn't have), members on the Honor Roll, and by winning the Christmas award in home room 207.

These students, wearing their faces happy and carefree certainly added to the pep and life at Red Lion High School. Whether in the halls, classrooms, or at school games, one can always detect the presence of the sophomores by their enthusiasm and gay shouts of laughter. However, when the occasion arises, they're just as ready as any class to take on the responsibilities which are theirs.

So Many New Bouva Un Maidt

Varichglich hats must go off to the energetic, peppy junior highers whose vim and bounce is evident everywhere they are. Tireless, they are go-getters in every sense of the word. Active in clubs and sports, and very much interested in social affairs, they find time to be good scholars too. Many freshmen found things strange at first, but after awhile that out-of-place feeling went away and they have entered activities whole-heartedly. "I'm so hoongerich" must be their favorite saying, for they always seem to be eating.

The first time many saw R. L. H. S. was on that big day—Orientation Day—when members of the National Honor Society guided them through the building to show just what goes on. Special assemblies, a sports program, a lunch for free, and even movies were scheduled for these future freshmen.

Gym classes, departmental work and home economics classes were all completely new mitt die yunga, as were the many new faces of all the students who came from the grade schools and baffled the teachers with their names.

The junior highers may giggle sometimes or be a bit noisy in the classroom and halls, but it's awful hard to be still all the time. Even the seniors get the fidgets!

The Red Lion Board of Education —Mr. Earl Hartman, Mr. Edward Landis, Mr. David R. Fink, Mr. Charles E. Horn and Mr. Thomas C. Holtzinger.

Mr. Dan B. Kulp, B.S., A.M., our supervising principal, in his new office. Usual duties plus those connected with the building program have kept his days pretty full this year.

Although R. L. H. S. students and faculty have been inconvenienced for a time, the results of the building and remodeling have been terrible good.

The new office was in use by late summer, and the principal and supervising principal have been up to their necks in work ever since. With the building project not completed until spring, unexpected problems appeared almost daily. The secretaries scarcely had enough time to enjoy the new office as they scurried around checking on space for classes and activities. Three new classrooms have been added, and also rooms to house the home economics and art departments. About the only classes held up for any length of time were the gym classes.

The members of the faculty are as enthusiastic about the changes as anyone, including the new teachers and substitutes. Why not? The project has provided for two faculty lounging rooms, one for the male members and the other for the female members. The guidance counselors find that their duties in guiding and counseling our students take on an added plesseer in their bright new offices, and the nurse and dental hygienist even have spacious quarters of their own.

Other workers around school feel the effect of the building improvements. Since somesing new has been added, and a former janitor resigned, three new janitors have been chosen to the staff. There's a lot more to be cleaned now than there has been for a coon's age. As for the cafeteria staff, these ladies are donkbawr for the new equipment installed in their new section, the remodeled auditorium, but are still kept busy filling the platters of hoongerich students at the rushing noon hour.

The administration really has a job, but all are adapting themselves to present conditions in the light of R. L. H. S.'s wonderbor future.

In their new quarters Mrs. Arlene Gilbert and Mrs. Phyllis Parlett, the "office girls," never find a moment to spare.

ORGANIZATIONS

Ach my! Just look onct at all the different organizations die kinner can join. They can blose a horn, say their piece, or meppe even be ferhexed and do magic tricks. Sooch fun for all.

My, A Bissel Government

The sound of the gavel rings through the room as one of the wachlick fersommlings of the Student Council is called to order. Then Secretary Gruver, with her buch and fedder in hand, gives out mitt der roll call un die minutes. Many problems are presented to the council which tries its bescht to iron them out.

The council is actually a miniature government, which carries out the wishes of the students (if they aren't too-o-o absolutely ridiculous), and acts as a mediator between the students and the administration.

Annual elections are held in the spring of each year when fiery speeches and campaign slogans fill the air. To introduce the kondidawts and their campaign managers, the council usually sponsors a social affair, which for the past two years has been in the form of a square donz.

Then comes the hard work. This year the president appointed committees to tackle such problems as setting up a social calendar and regulating hall traffic, also a new committee to furnish music (with records) in the cafeteria at noon. The doings of the council and committees are reported to the students by the homeroom representatives during the weekly guidance periods.

Almost Policemen—Not?

Members of the Safety Patrol can be seen dummelling to their posts a few minutes before a hungry horde of school children rush home at noontime or at the end of a school day. These boys, under the guidance of Mr. Beckley, show real efficiency in their job.

In days gone by it was comparatively easy to walk safely across a corn feldt to school. Today, however, a strong force of well-trained patrolers is necessary to guide traffic at corners. Even if a schpritzer comes up, these guardians of the younger school children are busy at their posts. Sometimes he is cold and hungry, but the patroler must wait for the foulenzers who come on behind the crowd, for a patroler takes under his wing all the children on his beat.

Wearing the authorized Sam Brown belt is both a responsibility and a privilege. Although it means giving up some of his precious schpare tzeit a member may be very happy and proud to serve on the patrol. Parents can also be happy that they don't have to be farrechterlick about the safety of their children.

How to care for die hames and die younguns and learning the fundamentals of good grooming are the aims of this year's Future Home-Makers of America. A large number of girls, with or without early plans for getting hitched, enjoy membership in the group.

With the new home economics suite, which was one of the improvements actually completed when school opened last fall, these girls have better facilities with which to carry on their diversified activities. They have three standing committees — the social, which makes plans for club parties and club-sponsored dances; the project, always on the alert for suggestions from the county office; and the program, in charge of weekly meetings. Also, darrich der yahr these home-makers attend county conferences where they exchange ideas with the members of other clubs throughout the county.

How Nice They Give

Ach my, what a wonderful fine album for Hawaii too yet! Such was the reaction in a Red Cross Council meeting to the booklet prepared for the exchange of albums between United States and Hawaii, an interesting good-will project.

In the membership drive a wonderful lot of money was collected. In fact $122.70 was gotten during the drive at Red Lion. A body wouldn't think that so much could be collected at one school, but this shows the enthusiasm of the students in bringing in their pennies and nickels.

Another way they show their schpunk and willingness to give is in packing gift boxes to send to onner londs. These gifts are given to needy kinner all over der welt and actually spread good will and friendliness wherever they go. The packages are all of useful items, pleasing to anyone. Just one act of friendliness is uft enough to make our neighbors friends.

It isn't as easy as it looks to fool die folks, and practice and more practice keeps them busy. Mr. Miller is quite an expert himself and enjoys performing.

Twenty-two junior and senior high school girls with plenty of energy meet every Thursday morning in the library. In these weekly sessions they plan the club program and review their duties as assistants to the school librarian.

Besides trying to keep the nixnootzichs from blabbing, these girls work behind the desk, mark books and act as proctors. In addition they take inventory onct un yahr to find just how many books are around. Their other jobs include mending torn books, keeping the book shelves in apple-pie order, and checking on overdue books.

The quiet of the library was disturbed a little throughout the year by the thuds and thumps of the workmen, but this didn't cause any boderation to these library girls at all, for they had grandstand seats and could watch most of the goin's on.

Play Their Parts Gude

Lots of mishaps, lots of laughs and meppe lots of ham, but this year's Dramatic Club was really one of fun and fancy. This year the club has its own Amateur Hour, where almost everyone pitches in and makes for laughs. The club is divided into ten groups, each with a leader responsible for an assigned Thursday. Then comes the work! Sunnerwetter it really does.

They Sing So Nice

Strange but wunderbor gude noises are often heard coming from the cafeteria on Monday mornings. It isn't the cheerleaders mitt die new cheers or the cooks preparing the food, but it is the Senior High Mixed Chorus macha mitt die vocal chords.

Changing blue Mondays into bright sunny days is their specialty. They must be sunny because Mrs. Adams, the director, sometimes must wear sun glasses to the rehearsals.

Being able to participate in the Night of Music and the York County Music Festival serves as a challenge to them, and each singer does his best to secure that mellow tone. Ach ja! There is much hard work involved, but they figger it's worth it, for musical education as well as enjoyment is obtained by this group of senior high boys and girls.

Voices From Himmel—Fer Light?

Not only the Mixed Chorus is responsible for all the wonderful nice music echoing in the halls. Two other groups give their hearers equal reason to appreciate just what can be done with vocal chords.

The vocalettes are just the ten gals what can do the songs up right. Once a week this group works feverishly in Mrs. Adams' room to get the right blending quality. They are featured at dances, assemblies, and even on the radio.

The other singing group sending out those beautiful tones is the Girls' Chorus, made up of about sixty girls and also directed by Mrs. Adams. Due to the re-makin' at Red Lion, they practice in the cafeteria. This is a crowded arrangement and the girls and their director are real anxious for the completion of the new music room, where they can get settled and really get down with the work.

They Sing For Plessur

Sounds and vibrations prove fascinating.

The choruses ain't the only pepples on the beach, for every Thursday the lusty voices of the Boys' Music Club are heard in the home room of the club's organizer and instructor, Mr. Daniel Myers. At the present the club is limited to freshmen, and these lads enjoy singing popular songs as well as old familiar ones. However, they don't only make with the vocal chords but they study musical instruments and learn the how and why of sound. They even use harmonicas, getting tuned up with Mr. Myers's trusty pitch-pipe. Their club sessions provide musical background as well as the opportunity of singing for the joy of it.

The boys also have a lot of fun acting out some songs such as "Old Black Joe" and "When You and I Were Young, Maggie." Singing is a good way for them to say die wilder howwer and keep out of mischief, for they don't have time to dally in Music Club — they are too busy and too interested. Their obbadit for music is really amazing, and so wonderful to lay die eyes on.

The Younguns Sing, Un

Yah, such looshtich kinner meet down in 108 every first day of the week. These members of the Junior High Glee Club do enjoy their Monday morning rehearsals as they practice in three-part harmony many familiar and unfamiliar songs. They soon pick their favorites, and melodies by Romberg and Herbert are hummed and sung as often as the popular hit tunes of the day. Pretty much always these singers continue in the senior high choruses, after receiving their basic training in junior high school.

Wonderful Good Donz Music

Instrumental classes such as this provide good dance band material.

When the rootchy members get settled onct during the dance band rehearsals, a great deal gets done. Always full of pep and ready to play anything, these swingers and their schutialing around help to put a few strands of white among the black of Mr. Surplus's hair.

Their practices are usually held on Thursday nights, when they rehearse still from seven-thirty 'til nine o'clock down in 108. That's the room down at the end of the hall where the wall was torn out during the whole first semester.

They make with all sorts of music at the school dances, from sweet and smootchy songs to the music that makes the jitterbugs happy, yet. Speaking of jitterbug favorites, during one Thursday night jam session Jim Strayer, a senior trombonist of the group, was really sliding on the "Nine Twenty Special." In fact, the slide, after reaching the sixth position, went right on going out of Jim's hands and across the floor. Little incidents like this put spice into the hard practice necessary for good music.

It Gives Mitt Der Geik

Onct a great English poet remarked that the river which runs a little piece away from Red Lion has a musical quality to its name. Maybe there is just somesing in the wind to make the Susquehanna River sound musical and to make Red Lion students so musically inclined. For instance, the orchestra, which isn't such an enormous big organization, meets every Thursday club period to practice. It's such a plessur to sit and listen to them make pretty music.

It wonders Mr. Surplus why there are always lots of boys who will play the drums and other instruments that make so noisy. Everyone agrees that it's like pulling teeth to get someone to play a geik. For to get anything except screeches from pulling the fiddle stick over strings of cat-gut takes pretty much practicing.

Maybe that's why the new music room has been built in the new addition. Sound proof walls and its distance from other class rooms help in keeping students from being ferdutzed by the future virtuosos.

Ach Mein! It's sompsing wunderbor the way the majorettes step in time to the band music. Dressed in their snappy white uniforms they strut at football games and special parades and lead the whole shebang—band, cheerleaders and everything.

Another group of high-steppers is the Twirling Club, made up of twenty-two nimble fingered maidt. Weather permitting they usually are seen practicing in front of the school building, and working out baton tricks, much to the amazement of spectators. When winter drove them indoors, the girls consoled themselves with the thought that next year the new gym would be available.

Open to anyone in seventh to twelfth grade interested in baton twirling, this club aids students in keeping their honds un mind bissee. At the rate they're going, they'll soon qualify as majorettes of R. L. H. S.

They Reckla With Die Numbers

Makin' with die figures is the recent project of seventh graders. Every Thursday morning they work together on waigs by which they can really make mathematics easier. They say they enjoy figuring out different ways to work the same problem, and actually make fun out of what used to be a hosful chop. They also make themselves acquainted with the checking of problems. Then they know when they are recht udder letz and don't have to ask for the answers.

So many new things were added this year to R. L. H. S., and this is somesing new, too. Another recent addition is Mr. Brunner, the instructor of this math crew. There is so great a response to his such wonderful good ideas, that the group is too large to meet all together onct. They have divided into two groups, meeting on alternate Thursdays.

One can look still and see that all schule work isn't bad, but can be fun if everyone makes himself to want to like it.

Mittous a doubt this could only be the ever faithful photographers and stage crew members. These fellows have no real organization but are always around and honda when needed.

Everyone working on the school bobeer, the Hilltop, will say that it's quite a job but is really a lot of fun when all's g'saaght un futch. Each month pencil pushers exercise their brain power by proofreading, re-writing articles, checking galleys and writing headlines.

This year a few of the staff attended the York-Adams School Press Association conference, and five of them had to gay der gons waig to Allentown for the Pennsylvania Press Association convention.

Although the major staff positions are held by seniors, the juniors assume responsibility for parts or special issues of the paper — just to practice up for the future. It is rumored that these young journalists really have a naws for news.

Young Dutchmen—No Less!

Kannscht du Deitsch schwetza? Lion staff members thought it would be much easier if they did, so they diligently hunted through vocabulary books and endeavored to recall grandma's favorite Dutchified expression. The activity office rocked as the writers searched for just the right Pennsylvania Dutch words, and Charlie strained his eyeballs scaling measurements and trimming pictures. All this time Bev was busy doing Dutch sketches and the photographers were having the usual problems getting formal and informal shots. The typists were always in a dilly trying to discover what they were typing. (Gootness, those Dutch vords.)

At any rate, all have survived with their previously spoken English mutilated just a little bit by thinking and writing about Pennsylvania Dutch for at least three-fourths of the school year.

Sooch Schtarrig Menner

Red Lion gridmen started off the 1950 football season with a wonderful big bang by winning the first game of the season, a Conference of the Roses victory. Weigel raced to pay dirt twict and Paley kotched a seventeen-yard pass from Chavarria and added six points to the score yet.

The next Saturday turned out badly for the Lions. A powerful Susquehanna Township eleven ferhoodled the team and scored in every quarter.

Their first defeat sure greisled the fellows, so they dug their cleats in and beat Manheim Township. Phew! sooch a heckish night to play football that was. It was so foggy that the announcer could see only the players near the press box. Both teams wallowed around like wutzs and were pretty much fershmeerd with mud.

The next week the Lions went up to Lemoyne. In spite of hard playing, the Trojans got ahead in the third quarter and stayed there.

The game that got the spectators all het up was the annual game with York Catholic, in which both teams battled it out. Passes to Chronister really kerflomixed the friendly foe, but the game ended in a deadlock.

The team tackled Ephrata the following Saturday. A blazing sun made down hase and it was anybody's ball game the whole way until the last quarter when R. L. got into hase-wasser and couldn't get out.

Victory hungry Columbia then invaded R. L. and won this conference game. The home team was weakened by the loss of Weigel and Chavarria, who were booghered-up with leg and arm injuries.

Next on the list was the Thursday night tussle with Biglerville. Those fellows were slipperich and scored in every period. However, Red Lion's eighty-yard march was the wonder to the spectators. Johnny Contino kotched a Seidenstricker pass and ran mitt der ball for seventy-seven yards; then Bob Gold took it across for a much needed touchdown.

The Lions ended the season at West York. What a game that was! Red Lion took the lead in the first five minutes and the Bulldogs couldn't score until the last period. Everyone was thinking the game would end all tied up, but West York came along with its trickiest play, and so the final game went to the Bulldogs.

Ach! Never was there such trouble in basketball as the black and gold dribblers had this year with no gym in which to practice or to play the games. Sure, the fellows were plenty disappointed, but every night after school they'd pile three deep in cars and schutshel off to the Municipal Building (one evening all the way to Wrightsville) to practice.

The varsity boys, in spite of handicaps, won eight league games and lost four. Even though they didn't land up in first place, their sportsmanship and spirits were high. It's no wonder — with exciting games jammed full of Dick Stine's back-over-the-head shots . . . . . With their flashing smiles and high spirits, they boost the morale of both crowd and team. Whether it rains or snows (as it sometimes does), they're ows dart cheering the team to victory.

Throwing The Ball The Net Over

Schlog der ball down.....kill it! It's in the net, ows mitt es! Ach, volleyball is an exciting sport. Although this year it was confined to just a small group, most students have played the game or will play eventually. Volleyball is relatively nigh at Red Lion as an interscholastic competitive sport. In spite of this, students and faculty have one thought in mind.....to macha fer der best team possible.

Mr. Yost relied on the boys of last year's squad to macha uff der new team because of the big practice problem. Since Red Lion's new gym was not completed in time, practices were held in the Municipal Building. In fact, the boys were very hoppy that they were granted the privilege of posing for their picture in the new gym.

This year the boys have scrimmaged with West York and North York, and have been scheduled to play in the District 3, P. I. A. A. volleyball tournament held at York. Gude glick, fellows!

Members of the Girls' Athletic Association, with their minds sot on sports, haven't had much chance to work off that extra energy this year. They've made on as if it really didn't matter, but they're dying to get into the new gym and play at some volleyball and basketball. They haven't even played softball because that field is now the site of the wonderbor fine gymnatorium.

Real anxious to start out with their new advisor, Mrs. Wanda Flinchbaugh, early in the fall the girls elected officers and talked over activities for the year. They didn't know then the tough time they were going to have getting things done.

Their big social shin-dig was the Pigskin Dance, following the Lion-Bulldog game. The G. A. A. girls had plenty of trouble this year. It was the first time any group ever tried to decorate the old auditorium, now the cafeteria, but still everything turned out all right.

Ach! I'm Kugeled

Sometime when strolling through the park, and a shower of arrows whiz-z-z through the air from all directions, fer one minoot one might think that there is an attack by the Indionner, and don un dart hit the ground. However, it's merely the archery gang at work. Some of these archers are almost goot enough to pass for genuine redmen.

This brand new club is open to all who are interested in archery at R. L. H. S., particularly junior high. The seventh and eighth graders turned out like mad to try their luck at bending the bow.

Some of the fellows who were all kerflomixed about it, even made their own bows and arrows down in the shop. Most of them, though, were so interested they rushed all around town trying to buy the necessary equipment. The girls were just as enthusiastic as the boys.

Nearly twenty archers show up every Monday afternoon to test their marksmanship or to discuss this art of shooting a straight arrow. Sooch A Fescht Game

Vhy sure, tennis was revived early last spring, and the courts across the street were just as popular as years ago. Enthusiastic fellows, under Mr. Tom Yost's instruction, spent much time in learning to play the fast game. It was a good thing, maybe, that when the old gym was being torn up the fellows had somesing new to keep them busy.

During gym periods, the boys worked hard, pushing and pulling heavy rollers over the courts to put them in good condition. Pretty much always during those spring days, if a body heard laughing and talking and would look out the window, husky fellows could be seen giving their muscles exercise by repairing the tennis courts. Some grexed a little over the work they were doing but they stuck to it and soon had the courts all fixed up.

Actual practicing started rather late in the spring, so no matches could be played with other schools. Of course, competition was strong among R. L.'s own fellows, but Let Snyder finally ended up champ after he skunked even Mr. Yost.

Iss Safe At First, Gel?

Schpiel balla! Responding to these magic words the Lion sluggers did a bang-up job in 1950 and finished the season in second place with six league wins and four losses.

After winning the league opener with Manchester the Lions dropped a game to York High and a close one to West York. Still they didn't give up mittows un fecht; although outscored, the Lions outhit the Bulldogs on the West York feldt. Ach! don came an easy win over Dover! Then came two defeats—Manor Township and the second game with Manchester. Playing off a postponed game with North York, the Lions again were victorious. Next the Gold and Black avenged their earlier loss to West York, by defeating the Bulldogs on the return bout. Dover again was shut out, and by topping North York on May 10, the Lions registered the final win, thanks to the one-hit pitching of Eugene Snyder.

How Der Legs Do Choomp

Un der off mitt der Bang!—A situation most familiar to the runners, jumpers, and other fieldmen, who, after a few weeks of hard down-to-earth training, qualified for the 1950 track team.

Spectators at a baseball game could see the trackmen macha mitt der feet in the outfield. They did well considering they did not know who would be next to be schlogged on the head with a baseball.

The first testing of their skill was a triangular meet with North York and West York, in which the Lions came out second. Next, and perhaps most important, was the county meet, in which they fong'd third place. A third contest, a dual affair with Biglerville, resulted in five of the eleven events on the program being taken by the Lions.

An interclass track meet climaxed the season. Trackmen, coaches, and the few spectators were a little disappointed that it gave rain and, along with that, mud. (Very schmootzich.) But through it all, the seniors came out on top.

Somesing Nigh At Schule

Jake and John rest their weary bones before moving on to the next hole.

A bekond expression "Fore" was heard around school as golf was initiated into the athletic program at Red Lion High School. For this sport the boys were allowed the use of the nine-hole golf course of the Red Lion Country Club too yet, some of the clubs being kawf'd for the present and future gym classes.

Under the direction of Mr. Nitchkey the boys were taught how to correct their wicked curves and slices. Although the Lions did not follow a regular schedule, they met West York in two matches. In both of these West York was victorious.

Golf is one of the finer sports that is being advocated for high schools and each year the P. I. A. A. announces the golf champion of the state.

Practically all the men folk of last year's golf team have graduated but there will be boys playing this year who have had golf experience. In addition, the girls plan to include the sport in their G. A. A. program.

GOLFERS—Don Patton, James Flinchbaugh, John Engles, Charles Hartman, Robert Norris, Coach Charles Nitchkey.

Gude In Sports Und Studies

Around the school there are some boys who are really glicklich when it comes to sports; and, seeing that they keep up in scholastic ratings too, they are eligible to join up with the National Athletic Scholarship Society. Many of the bouva got a varsity letter in football or some other sport, but only those who were in the upper half of the class made up with this honorable group.

The boys had to give up some of their plessurs in order to schpiel in sports. Ja, they couldn't take that snack or bleib out as late as they might have wanted to, but they all know that it was for their own good and for the honor of the team to have schtarrig bodies, full of stamina. This yahr there were eight seniors and three juniors who qualified for membership, and everyone agrees they can be really proud that they not only play gude, but also they have kopps that work.

PATRONS

It is to die patrons, those persons who have so generously given us der hilf we needed to produce this record of our schule yahr, that der Lion staff says—Mer be-donke una.

Finis

Thus ends the record of our school year. May the readers of this volume catch something of the real pleasure the members of the staff have had trying to cope with bits of Pennsylvania Dutch, and realize the pride we feel in our Alma Mater, Red Lion High School.
